Pioneer Corps,
General Rosecrans remedied the logistical problems of moving and defending his army by creating an independent unit of men who were experienced in a trade and could apply it according to military necessity.
George W. Morris of the 81st Indiana succinctly detailed the creation of that unit and its objectives:

There is another branch of the army that our regiment took a prominent part in that should not be forgotten and we feel that in justice to them that they should be mentioned. In the latter part of 1862 while the army lay at Edgefield, Tennessee, there was an order issued by General Rosecrans to form what was called the Pioneer Corps... Their work was to build bridges, railroads, cut roads through the cedars for the ambulances, and everything else that the army had to do. A number of times they were fighting like the balance of the army.
To this end, General William Rosecrans issued General Order No. 3 on November 3, 1862, which stated:
There will be detailed immediately, from each company of every regiment of infantry in this army, two men, who shall be organized as a pioneer or engineer corps attached to its regiment. The twenty men will be selected with great care, half laborers and half mechanics. The most intelligent and energetic lieutenant in the regiment, with the best knowledge of civil engineering, will be detailed to command, assisted by two non-commissioned officers.
This officer shall be responsible for all equipage, and shall receipt accordingly.

Under certain circumstances it may be necessary to mass this force: when orders are given for such a movement, they must be promptly obeyed.

The wagons attached to the corps will carry all the tools, and the men's camp equipage. The men shall carry their arms, ammunition, and clothing.

Division quartermasters will immediately make requisitions on chief quartermasters for the equipment, and shall issue to regimental quartermasters on proper requisition.

Equipment For Twenty Men - Estimate For Regiment

Six Felling Axes	Six Hammers
Six Hatchets	Two Half-Inch Augurs
Two Cross-Cut Saws	Two Inch Augurs
Two Cross Cut Files	Two Two-Inch Augurs
Two Hand-Saws	Twenty lbs. Nails, Assorted
Two Hand-Saw Files	Forty lbs. Spikes, Assorted
Six Spades	One Coil Rope
Two Shovels	One Wagon, with four horses, or
Three Picks	mules

It is hoped that regimental commanders will see the obvious utility of this order, and do all in their power to render it as efficient as possible.

The troops detailed in accordance with that order was to number just under three thousand men but their actual numbers varied as widely as the need for their service. The first duties assigned to the Pioneers were generally those of sappers and miners. However as their expertise grew so did the diversity of their tasks. The key difference between these men and the regular army engineers was that the Pioneers would often move in advance of the army. All the work at the front of the army would fall on their shoulders. Conversely, the army engineers were employed chiefly on the lines of communication to the rear. Both would be active in reinforcing gains made by the army on it's march. Therefore, the Pioneer's duties would consist of the two tasks that were the most critical to an army advancing onto enemy soil; the same two General Buell sorely overlooked, reinforcing captured enemy ground to protect the rear and preparing transportation infrastructure to hasten the advance. The result was that the Union army in the West now had the means to do what it failed to achieve the past summer.

The Democratic Times, Jacksonville, Oregon

Frozen to Death

T.J. Henry, who formerly followed the occupation of a house painter in Jacksonville, on Monday evening, Nov. 23rd, left Watkins for his home in Steamboat district, about six miles distant, accompanied by his dog. The shortest road was over a mountain and this he took. Henry was never seen alive afterward, and his family and neighbors, becoming alarmed at his continued absence, instituted a search. His body was found in a clump of brush, jealously guarded by his faithful dog. He had been frozen to death. It commenced to snow shortly after Henry left Applegate, and he doubtless lost his way. He leaves a family in straitened circumstances.

The funeral will take place in Jacksonville on Tuesday, Revs. Ennis and Schulse officiating.

Obituary

April 21, 1911

Mrs. Sarah Burnidge died at her home seven miles northwest of Stillwater at 7 p. m.. Friday, April 14, 1911, aged 51 years, and 6 months. The funeral was held at the family residence at 11 a. m., Sunday, conducted by Rev. D.J.M. Wood, who preached from the text, "And We Fly Away," Ps. xc 10., after which the body was followed to its last resting place in Fairlawn cemetery, Stillwater, where it was met by a large delegation who deposited in sisterly love an evergreen bough on her casket. Beautiful flowers were also evidences of love from several orders and friends.

The decedent was born in Kankakee county, Illinois, Oct 18, 1860. She leaves, besides her husband, two daughters by a former marriage, Mrs Maud Swatzell, of Lincoln county, and Mrs. Grace Meeks of Stillwater. She was a bright and lovable woman, a member of the Methodist church, living a consistent Christian life and loved by all who knew her.

Mrs. Burnidge's death was due to cancer of the stomach. She had submitted to an operation, and was a great sufferer to the time of her death.

Memorial.

Again we bow our heads in obedience to Devine Will, Who has called from earth our beloved sister, Sarah Burnidge. She suffered intensely to the last, and on Apr 14 answered the summons to "come up higher." Our lodge has lost valued member, and the family mourns for a loving wife and mother.

Resolved, that resolutions of sympathy be sent to the sorrowing husband, and a copy be sent to each of our city papers for publication.

By order of President A. A. Ware, T. T. B. A.

Mrs. A. B. Clark,
Maud Brewer,
Anna Thatcher,
Committee.
