Generation No. 2

3. William² Ferrell (Colonel William¹) was born 1769 in Lancaster Co. S.C., and died November 1825 in Shelby Co., AL. He married Agnes Carson Abt. 1787 in Lancaster Co., South Carolina. She was born Abt. 1760 in Unk Location, and died Aft. 1832 in Shelby Co. S.C..

Notes for William Ferrell:
The following is for information only. (It may or may not have any bearing on this family tree:)
In the Scotch-Irish Settlers in America, Virginia, Vol. I, Augusta County Court Records, pp 83: William and Barbara, orphan son and daughter of John Farrell, are to be bound out. Then in Virginia, Vol. II, pp 446: Barbara Farrell, orphan daughter of John Farrell bound to John Poage, page 217, dated 18th November 1758. And William Farrell, orphan son of John Farrell bound to John Archer, page 248, dated 26th November 1759.

The following is from Shawn P. Sweeney whose genealogical research included the Farrell families of South Carolina, Alabama, and Mississippi: "My research has turned up that William and Agnes Farrell were from Lancaster County, SC, and that they arrived in Shelby Co, AL before 1820. Agnes was either a Carson or had been married to a William Carson before her marriage to William Farrell. I believe she was married to William Carson before she married Farrell though because she deeded some land to a daughter, Elizabeth Causer, wife of Richard Causer, in Shelby County in 1832. Elizabeth was not mentioned as a child of William and Agnes in William Farrell's estate papers of 1825. +The other children of William and Agnes were Robert J. Farrell, who married Temperence Worrill in St. Clair Co. Alabama, in 1825. William C. Farrell. (Not much is known about him.) Sarah Farrell. (Nothing is known about her.) And, John, and the only thing I know about him is his year of birth: 1795. None of the other children have been found in written census records as far as I know. +I believe that William Farrell, Sr. was a son of either William or John Farrell, brothers who were from Ireland. There are several references to them in some Lancaster County, SC records, though nothing definitely ties William to either of them. As a matter of fact, the only reason I am certain of their existence in Lancaster Co is through Agnes, who witnessed several papers in that county, both as a Carson and as a Farrell. + I descend from John and Sarah Farrell through their youngest son, John Taylor Farrell, born in 1848. He was originally Zacharia Taylor Farrell, but changed his name to John."

Generation No. 4

8. Andrew Jackson⁴ Farrell (John Cantzon William "Irish"³, William² Ferrell, Colonel William¹) was born May 23, 1825 in Montgomery, Shelby Co., Alabama, and died May 10, 1911 in Guntown, Lee Co, MS. He married Elizabeth Jane Leatherwood August 23, 1855 in Montgomery, Shelby Co., Alabama. This record can be found in the Shelby Co., GA Records, Film #157184-1571846., daughter of Paul Leatherwood and Permelia Nabors. She was born April 27, 1830 in Montevallo, Shelby Co., Alabama, and died July 20, 1886 in Guntown, Lee Co., MS.

Notes for Andrew Jackson Farrell:
The "old house" was originally a typical Southern Plantation with many out buildings and slave quarters. It was sold to Mr. John Harold by the heirs of the estate for $8,000.00. Mr. Harold did some remodeling and tore down the slave quarters. He lived in the front part of the big house for the remainder of his life.
From WFT Vol.94, t0006: Andrew owned a plantation in Alabama where his slaves made the shoes for the entire plantation. He moved to Mississippi in 1858 from Shelby County, Alabama. Mary Farrell, Andrew Jackson's granddaughter, was a school teacher. She never married and wrote to Eupha (Furgerson) Thurman in Black Canyon City, AZ, apprx 1972 regarding family tree. Mary was 80 years old. We think Mary Farrell was the daughter of either J.O. or Walter T. Farrell. Andrew Jackson Farrell's funeral service was held by M.H. Armor who wrote his obituary in THE CHRISTIAN MESSENGER newspaper . The paper states that Brother Farrell obeyed the gospel, having attended a service by Brother R. B. Trimbel who preached the first sermon Andrew had ever heard delivered by a "Christian only." He remained faithful until his death. His wife and all the children except one, became Christians. Andrew J. Farrell was a good soldier of Jesus. Quiet, modest, unpretentious, but true and unwavering in all of his life's relationships. The body was taken to Red Hill Cemetery a few miles east of Guntown, and laid to rest.

Red Hill Cemetery is located in SW 1/4,S6,T8,R7, a few miles east of Guntown, just after going under the Natchez Trace. Information about the cemetery was gathered by Mrs. Joe Kellum and her troupe of scouts and copied in 1976. Then in 1978, David Baker, Mrs. Guy Clayton and Mertice Collins rechecked all the information: Andrew Jackson, his wife Elizabeth J. Leatherwood Farrell, their daughters Sallie Farrell Kellum and her husband Agrippa E. Kellum, Alice Permelia Farrell Kellum and her husband R. J. Kellum and their son J. F. Kellum are all buried in Red Hill Cemetery.
Condition: It is in a very secluded place, in the woods, quiet and well cared for. It is almost a family cemetery. Not sure if a church was ever there and according to stories in the family (not verified) the family of ??? Kellum donated the land for the cemetery.
In the 1910 US Census for MS, Lee Co., Guntown: Andrew is listed as living with his Daughter Alice and her husband, Rufus J. Kellum.

She was born 1831 in Montgomery, Shelby Co., AL, and died Aft. 1904 in Montgomery, Shelby Co., Alabama.

Notes for James A. "Jim" Farrell:
From "Notable Men of Alabama" Vol I, 1904 (reprinted 1976) Lib.ofCongress Cat #:75-45385: "He learned to use the rifle and to use it well. When a boy he was known to be an early riser, and while his mother prepared the morning meal "Jim" was sent to drive up the calves that had been grazing through the night. Often upon his return he bnrought with him the fruits of his young marksmanship in the form of a fat, juicy venison which, of course, added very materially to the pleasures of the morning's meal. He was not selfish in his nature, but demonstrated his spirit of boyish generosity by dividing the fruits of the hunt with his white friends and with the Indians, whom he had made friendly by his kindly bearing toward them."
"He was a consistent member of the Methodist Episcopol Church South."

"He was a member of Company A, of the Second Alabama Calvalry, to which cause he was faithful until the surrender of General Lee. Returning home in the spring of 1865, he found himself financially broken up, with nothing to begin life anew with, save a sound body and an exhaustless store of energy. To him were born a family of sixteen children, eleven of whom are now living (1904.)"

28 i. John Burwell⁵ Farrell, born June 26, 1872 in Montgomery, Shelby Co., Alabama; died Unknown in Unk Location.

Notes for John Burwell Farrell:
From: "Notable Men of Alabama", 1904, reprinted in 1976, Lib.of Congress Cat.# 75-45385: "By reasons of financial inabilities and bodily afflictions of other members of the family, the educational development of John was somewhat neglected; however, he received a good common school education, and taught for a number of years in the public schools of the State of Alabama, his native State. In the spring of 1902 he sought political favors at the hands of the Democratic party and without a dissenting voice was given the nomination. In the following November he was elected by a handsome majority over his opponent. His faithfulness to offical duty was evidenced by a renomination without opposition. He is a faithful member of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, a member of the Knights of Pythias, stands five feet and ten inches in his shoes, and balances scales at two hundred pounds."
"John Burwell Farrell, superintendent of education of Shelby county since 1902, is a gentleman well and favorably known among the educators of his section. He dates his birth June 26, 1872, in Beat Eight of Shelby county."

Notes for James Henry Pearson:
James stated that he ran away from home at age 15 after his father was killed in Vicksburg because his stepfather was mean to him. This would mean that James Henry came to Mississippi in 1878 and lived in Yazoo County near Eden with a family by the name of Mathews until he married . Only once did one of his step brothers come for a visit some time in the 1920's. The half brother was described by other family members as having long shaggy hair and being barefoot. His name was Lovett and was from Alabama.
